Opens Two New Animal Science Facilities
to Start the Spring Semester

Students, faculty and staff of the Purdue University College of Agriculture officially opened the doors to a pair of new facilities with the beginning of the spring semester on January 8, 2018.

The Hobart & Russell Creighton Hall of Animal Sciences (approximately 53,200 sq. ft.) is home to faculty and staff offices for the Animal Sciences department, USDA-Agricultural Research Service's Livestock Behavior Unit and staff of Indiana animal commodity/regulatory agencies including the Indiana State Poultry Association (ISPA).

Creighton Hall also contains the administrative suite and the student services suite, state-of-the-art research and teaching classrooms and laboratories, conference rooms, and open collaborative spaces.

The Land O'Lakes Center for Experiential Learning (approximately 13,050 square feet) is home to the Boilermaker Butcher Block and the meat and protein science teaching and research classrooms and laboratories. The Purina Pavilion (approximately 6,750 sq. ft.) is a multi-purpose space equipped for live animals and large audiences with built-in bleachers and technology including sound, audio and video.

The ISPA and its members, as well as other commodity groups and businesses provided funding for the Animal Science Buildings.

ISPA BANQUET WELCOME

Dear Friends:

Today we are enjoying the Indiana State Poultry Association's 26th Annual Legislative Banquet. This event offers an excellent occasion to renew connections and make new contacts. It is a good opportunity to educate our legislators on how your business strengthens both community and state.

Just two years ago, we were in the midst of successfully combating avian influenza in our own state. That success can be attributed to the collaborative environment we enjoy in Indiana. The communication and cooperation Indiana shares between producers and agencies is a valuable asset found in few states.

The banquet is an opportunity to thank the local, state and federal agencies responsible for providing that protection. Please let your legislators know how important it is to provide the financial support those agencies require. Additionally, utilize this occasion to communicate with Purdue administrators and faculty, and then let your legislators know how important Purdue's work is to you.

Sincerely,

Galen Miller

ISPA DINNER MUSIC - “AUTUMN’S DAWN”

Autumn’s Dawn

Autumn’s Dawn is made up of three multi-talented young ladies – Kathleen Moman, Elizabeth Johnson and Hannah Boehlke from Southern Indiana. The girls grew up playing music together in the same music studios and remained friends over the years. In 2013, the girls officially formed Autumn’s Dawn together and have been performing all over the state since!

Each girl plays at least four instruments including a total of piano, flute, piccolo, guitar, bass, violin/fiddle, ukulele, banjo, and cello as well as vocals. All three girls were semi-finalists in the World Piano competition and boast many other awards. As Classically trained musicians, the girls often perform at wedding ceremonies and private dinner parties. For the Bluegrass and Gospel side of things, the girls perform at fairs, festivals, private parties and churches. The girls also enjoy composing and arranging music and love using these skills to create the perfect songs for their audiences.

Each of the girls are now married, Elizabeth and Kathleen have baby girls just a month apart and Hannah is expecting in May of 2017! The babies are often in tow at performances and there are high hopes for the Autumn’s Dawn Jr’s to become music lovers as well! To learn more about each of the girls, to see pictures and videos, and to find out about upcoming performances - visit the band’s Facebook fanpage or website: www.facebook.com/AutumnsDawnMusic or www.autumnsdawn.com

ISPA PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

We appreciate your participation in the Indiana State Poultry Association's 2018 Annual Banquet. Your sponsorship strengthens our industry's voice and provides the means to accomplish our numerous ambitious goals. The Indiana State Poultry Association:

- Administers Indiana's National Poultry Improvement Plan (NPIP) of the USDA, working with producers and governmental officials to control and eliminate diseases of poultry. The Indiana State Poultry Association (ISPA) benefits the industry by responding to artificial trade barriers which can reduce export opportunities. The ISPA has been instrumental in the creation of the NPIP Commercial AI program.
- Coordinates with state and federal agencies to provide avian influenza, poultry biosecurity and lab sampling trainings and meetings. The ISPA provides regular avian influenza, NPIP and poultry disease updates to its members.
- Travels across Indiana to you for discussions about your operation. These visits include representatives of the Indiana State Board of Animal Health, Purdue Animal Disease and Diagnostic Lab, Purdue Animal Sciences; as well as Purdue animal science and veterinary students.
- Represents our industry's interests by addressing volumes of federal and state regulations involving disease control, the environment, food safety, processing, well being, and live production.
- Amplifies the poultry industry's voice in Indiana government by initiating and continuing a meaningful dialogue with the members of the Indiana General Assembly and the state's congressional delegation.
- Educates the public by providing a multitude of materials for Ag Days, state and county fairs, Purdue Extension programs, and other events.
- Administers the many programs of Indiana's Turkey Market Development Council to promote turkey and advance the production capabilities of Hoosier producers.
- Through the cooperation of its members, the ISPA has donated over 600,000 eggs and over 75 tons of poultry meat and egg products to Indiana food banks over the past twelve months.

TRANSFORMING SUSTAINABLE RESOURCES INTO FUNCTIONAL AND NUTRITIONAL INGREDIENTS

Darling Ingredients is a global leader in animal nutrition solutions. We understand you need a reliable, responsible and professional service provider to handle your inedible meat by-products or remove animal mortalities. For centuries, this material was rendered to make soap. Today, rendering is the most effective and bio-secure solution for the disposal of your operation's inedible animal by-products. Millions of tons of material from landfills is diverted as we recycle it into feed ingredients, consumer and industrial products and renewable fuels.

Indiana's Family of Farmers

"Growing up working on the farm is just good home family values."

Name: Bob Bixler

Location: Berne, Indiana

Years farming: I have been farming for 33 years but our egg farm has been here since 1925.

My family: My wife, Lisa, and I have a thirteen year old daughter.

How I came to be a farmer: I started working in the chicken houses and hatchery when I was a young boy. I grew up in my father's footsteps.

The best thing about being a farmer: I enjoy going to the grocery store and knowing I had a large part in producing the eggs that are in the cooler. I also get a lot of satisfaction from donating eggs to local food banks, knowing that we can make a difference in the lives of people by helping feed a nation.

My personal philosophy on farming: The Berne Hi-Way Hatchery takes great pride in humanely providing safe, affordable eggs for consumers and making a difference in the world in which we live.

Egg Facts and Trivia

- Indiana ranks 2nd in the United States with more than 31,770,000 egg layers (chickens that lay eggs).
- The United States has approx. 320 million laying hens.
- The average American eats 275 eggs per year.
- Luckily, egg farmers produce approx. 75 billion eggs each year!
- An average hen lays approx. 250-300 eggs every year.
- As a hen grows older, she produces larger eggs.
- White eggs are produced by hens with white feathers and ear lobes. Brown eggs come from hens with red feathers and red ear lobes.
- There is no nutritional difference between brown and white eggs.
- Legend has it that the folds in a chef's hat represents the number of ways he or she knew how to cook an egg. The vaunted 100-fold hat was reserved for the heads of only the most knowledgeable of culinary experts.
- Chickens came to the New World with Columbus on his second trip in 1493.

Poultry Litter Treatment

Reduces ammonia and salt effects and captures nitrogen

In poultry production, litter, ammonia and salt come with the territory, but there is no cost effective way to dispose of spent litter.

But now, there's a natural, affordable litter treatment that:

- 1 | Creates more desirable living conditions for the birds by reducing ammonia volatilization and salt buildup in the poultry house, AND
- 2 | Makes your litter much more desirable and profitable because it contains additional plant-available nitrogen.

Once you've tried Litterade, you'll know why we say it's "Litterly Amazing."

Litterade: The solution for today's environmentally sensitive market

Developed by industry leaders Smith Creek Inc. and Monty's Plant Food, Litterade is the result of nearly 60 years of combined research, experience, and industry knowledge.

Monty's activated humic substances, combined with a specially-formulated consortium of 100% natural microbes and enzymes, reinforces Smith Creek's premium bedding's ability to capture ammonia in the poultry house, sequestering the nitrogen then releasing it into the soil upon land application.

Impressive field and usage results

In an early field test and analysis* of Litterade treated bedding vs. untreated bedding, nitrogen content was increased by 138% while in-house NH_3 (Ammonia) was reduced by 16%. Additional trials are underway.

Make the most of your waste

Turn your poultry waste into profit. Contact us today for more details; immediate delivery is available.

Application instructions

Apply 2.5 gallons of Litterade mixed with a minimum of 30 gallons of water per 25-30,000 square-foot house. Reapply after the first till, de-caking or turning of the litter (minimum 2 weeks.) Repeat this process whenever new litter is introduced.

*Turkey grow-out manure after 1 flock and 108 days from start to finish in the building. Longer house times will increase values proportionally.

The pick for your litter:

- Improves birds' living conditions by reducing ammonia volatilization, salt, and associated respiratory stress.
- Contains humic substances, microbes, enzymes and NO CHEMICALS.
- Creates a highly marketable, and profitable, nitrogen-rich litter.
- Is cost effective: 2.5 gallons treats one 25,000 - 30,000 square-foot house.
- Is developed by the bedding, composting, and mulch expert Smith Creek in partnership with Monty's Plant Food Co., a leader in natural agronomic products.

Extend Your Reach.

ISPA BEER AND BOURBON TASTING

The ISPA would like to extend our gratitude to Alltech Lexington Brewing & Distilling Company for providing samples of their beer and bourbon.

In the heart of Lexington, Kentucky, is Alltech Lexington Brewing and Distilling Company, a unique stop on the world-famous Kentucky Bourbon Trail® experience. The site is home to Town Branch Distillery and our brewery that produces the Kentucky Ale® family of beers. It is the oldest craft brewery in Lexington. Alltech founder and president Dr. Pearse Lyons acquired the 200-year-old Lexington Brewing Company in 1999 and resurrected the Lexington brewing and distilling tradition that dates back to 1794. Dr. Lyons' background in brewing and distilling made him the ideal person to combine two great things – beer and bourbon. Hailing from five generations of barrel makers, or coopers, he was the first Irishman to earn a formal degree from the British School of Malting and Brewing. While in college, he interned at both the Guinness and Harp Lager breweries and later worked as a biochemist for Irish Distillers, makers of the beloved Jameson whiskey. Today, the brewery produces award-winning brews and is considered a premier barrel-aging brewery. The distillery creates Town Branch Bourbon and other fine products such as whiskey, rye and gin.

BREAK AWAY AND GET MORE FROM LESS!

Improper mineral nutrition can have major consequences for health and productivity and, as a result, come at a high cost. The Alltech Mineral Management program focuses on organic trace minerals that are better absorbed, stored and utilized by the animal.

Replace inorganic minerals and give your flock the form they naturally need.

GOLDEN EGG AWARD - 2017 - Frank Johndrew

Frank Johndrew, 2017 Golden Egg Award Winner with Dr. Pat Wakenell, DVM, 2016 Golden Egg Award Winner

Frank Johndrew was born in Franklin, Indiana, on July 16, 1950. He graduated from Brockton High School in Massachusetts on June 9, 1965. Shortly after graduation, Mr. Johndrew ventured out on his own to find his place in life. He worked miscellaneous jobs before enrolling in college at Western Carolina University (WCU). He spent one year at WCU then transferred to Cornell University at Ithaca, New York.

Mr. Johndrew finished three years towards his degree when he learned that he would be drafted if he did not enlist in the Armed Forces of his choice. He decided to enlist in the United States Navy in 1971. Mr. Johndrew served in the Navy for four years, but made the difficult decision to return to the civilian world in 1975 to continue his pursuit of a degree in animal science.

He worked hard and long hours to pay for his tuition and earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Cornell University on January 18, 1978. So began the path that led to his ultimate success.

GOLDEN EGG AWARD - 2017 - Frank Johndrew

Mr. Johndrew's first job after graduation was at Colonial Poultry Farms in Pleasant Hill, Missouri. He then accepted a job at Agri-Foods, Troy, Missouri. After working on farms for many years, he decided to try his hand at sales with Vineland Laboratories. His work with Vineland attracted the attention of Hy-Line. He accepted a position of Sales Manager for Hy-Line North America and has worked for them for over 20 years.

Mr. Johndrew has raised seven children and is the proud grandfather of ten, and even has one great grandchild. He loves gardening, both vegetables and flowers. He spends most of his free time working on landscaping projects. There is never a dull moment.

Let's make
SMALL TALK

How much would one product recall affect your bottom line? What about one less repair to a key piece of equipment? How much would productivity increase if you spent one less hour per week on supply line logistics? Over the course of a year?

And when was the last time your insurance broker asked you those kinds of questions?

It's time to think beyond insurance. To focus on the details. To get smarter by thinking small.

Contact MJ Insurance. And let's talk about every little way we can help make your business a whole lot better.

ISPA POULTRY DONATIONS

Governor Holcomb and Lt. Governor Crouch Recognize Indiana Producers at the 70th Annual Poultry Donation

Governor Eric J. Holcomb and Lt. Governor Suzanne Crouch recognized the generosity of Indiana's poultry producers at the 70th Indiana State Poultry Association (ISPA) annual poultry donation on Monday, November 20, 2017. Over the past year, these producers donated roughly 75 tons, or 150,000 pounds, of product to Hoosiers in need.

"I commend the association and poultry producers statewide for not only supporting Indiana's economy, but also countless families across the state," Gov. Holcomb said. "The donations they make every year provide thousands of highly nutritious meals to Hoosiers in need, and is especially welcome during the holiday season."

"As Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development, it's an honor to recognize our state's poultry producers for their generosity, in a tradition dating back 70 years," Lt. Governor Crouch said. "Indiana's poultry producers help feed the world and their spirit of caring is truly demonstrated through their product donations to help fellow Hoosiers."

Today's ceremony marks an annual tradition that dates back to the late 1940s. Organized by the ISPA, one of the oldest poultry organizations in the nation, it was designed to recognize the strength of Indiana's poultry industry, as well as the annual donations made by its members, who are responsible for over 95 percent of the chicken, duck, turkey and eggs produced in Indiana.

"Indiana's poultry industry is made up of families, and many have been involved with raising poultry for multiple generations," Brennan said. "Our producers enjoy sharing their thanksgiving by donating nutritious poultry and eggs with the Indiana community, and encourage others to do the same throughout the year."
